

CALL FOR PAPERS

Nursing Research

The Journal of Radiology Nursing is planning a special issue in 2024 on nursing research. Sample topics include:

- Why nurses conduct research
- Barriers to research and evidence-based inquiries (institutional and/or overarching)
- Differences between scientific research and evidence-based projects/translational research
- How do PI, QA, and Research differ? Which one is right to use?
- Purpose of literature reviews: systematic, narrative, and integrative and how to conduct them
- Resources for diverse research/evidence-based projects
- Navigating the Review Board (internal to the organization and external review board)
- Conducting quantitative research/qualitative research/mixed methods/evidence-based projects:
  - similarities & differences and importance to nursing profession
  - Disseminating study results through posters, presentations, and journals
  - Authorship
  - How to critically appraise research studies
  - Funding for nursing research
  - Commonly used reporting guidelines for research and evidence-based projects
  - Systemic literature reviews and PRISMA guidelines
  - Other reporting guidelines (eg, CONSORT, TREND)
  - Database searching: CINAHL, Medline, Cochrane Collaboration (Boolean phrasing and inclusion/exclusion criteria)
  - Reviewing case reports
  - Ethical issues in nursing research

We are seeking original research and review manuscripts (4000 words), case studies (1000-1500 words), and short communications (1000-1500 words). Authors should submit an abstract, 3-5 keywords, and several highlights. Authors also may include links to websites, video demonstrations, images, forms, documents, or figures (some of which may be online only). Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to reuse copyrighted material and including it with the submission.

Manuscripts should be submitted by September 1, 2023.

Authors must consult the Guide for Authors.

Content queries and submission questions can be sent to Editor-in-Chief Kathleen Gross, MSN, BS, RN-BC, CRN, FAARIN, at kathleen.gross@arinursing.org.