DIRECTED JOURNAL READING PROGRAM

ARIN members seeking nursing continuing education (CE) contact hours are invited to participate in ARIN's Directed Journal Reading Program (DJR). These articles are offered to ARIN Members at no cost. Non-members may also participate for a small fee per article.

All ARIN educational activities are accepted toward the maintenance of radiology nursing certification. DJR quizzes are only available online through the ARIN website and will encompass the material from the selected articles. The ARIN Online CE Center will score and maintain each individual's CE activities. CE transcripts are accessed via the CE Center here and participants can print their transcripts as needed.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ARIN DIRECTED JOURNAL READING PROGRAM

1. Go to <https://edu.arinursing.org/education/catalog/> to view all available CE activities
2. Click on the "Directed Journal Readings" tab
3. Click on any article title and then select "Add to My Courses" to view the full text
4. Once you have read the article, take the quiz and submit the answers online

Participants must score a minimum of 80% on the quiz to receive nursing contact hours in their ARIN transcript. Upon completion of each quiz, the individual will receive immediate results. If the quiz is not successfully completed, it may be re-taken up to three times.

A certificate of attendance verifying successful completion of the activity and awarding the contact hours will be saved to your ARIN Transcript.

Questions regarding the quiz or article content should be sent to the ARIN Directed Journal Reading Nurse Planner team via info@arinursing.org
